

Wedding Bells.

What is there in the vale of life
Half so delightful as a wife;
When friendship, love and peace combine
To stamp the marriage-bond divine?
—Cowper.

Married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. John Hult in St. Paul, Minn., Sunday September 18, 1910, Miss Bertha Marie Ohrn of Valley City, and Mr. Axel S. Johnson of this city.

As the beautiful strains of the wedding march, rendered by Miss Hilda Nordstrom, of St. Paul, floated through the rooms the bridal party marched into the beautifully decorated room where Rev. A. E. Palmquist, of the Lutheran church, pronounced the ceremony in a most beautiful, impressive, in the presence of a number of invited guests. At the close of the ceremony congratulations were extended after which an elegant wedding supper was served.

A fine array of presents attest the esteem in which the young folks are held and will serve as life-long mementoes. Mr. Lockett and Dr. Wanner presented the young people with a $100.00 dinner set, along with the other presents that they received.

The bride was dressed in cream silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of Lillies of the Valley and the groom wore the conventional black. Miss Hedwig Olson, of St. Paul, acted as bridesmaid and Mr. E. J. Harrel of St. Paul, groomsmen.

The bride is a stranger to most of us, as she has lived in Valley City practically all her life. She is a young lady of many graces of mind and person, who is capable of filling the home she will adorn with happiness and will prove truly a help-mate and companion to the husband she has chosen to honor with her hand.

The groom is engaged in the jeweler business in this city and is a young man of steady habits that will make a success of life and make the girl that he has chosen for his wife a good, true husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home to their many friends after November 1st. They will occupy the Clendening residence in the north part of town.

This paper joins with their many friends in congratulations and best wishes as they embark on life's rugged voyage together.

PUT ON A PLANE WITH DOGS

Connecticut Town is Now Considering an Ordinance for Licensing
All the Cats.

If a petition presented to the board of aldermen of New Haven is adopted the despised and beloved cat will be put on an equal footing with her ancient enemy, the dog. New Haven solons, says the Tribune, have been asked to order that all pussies be licensed and tagged, the idea of the petitioners being that this method would rid the city of tramp cats.

The New Haven Palladium takes the matter seriously and favors the plan, saying that "in several large cities in the west the laws governing cats are as strictly and faithfully enforced as are those relative to dogs, and if our aldermen carry out the suggestion of the signers of the 'cat petition' they will be doing a great public service."

But the Hartford Times pokes fun at its neighbor and asks: "Would the requirement that cats be licensed, thus putting them on an equality with dogs, confer on them dignity or subject them to degradation?" It adds: "Perhaps a great opportunity now confronts the New Haven aldermen—the opportunity to determine whether the cat is a thing to be regulated, a truisim to be taken for granted, or a nuisance to be given up."

UNLESS.

Townsend—Can a man live on a dollar a day?

Beere—Certainly, unless he's as prodigal as to lay something aside for a rainy day, keep up his insurance, eat when he's hungry, buy clothes and pay his bills."
