

lunge to the fairness and good faith of the other possible candidates. No sane man believes that it is possible to defeat Townleyism in North Dakota this year with the forces of the independent voters divided in a three-cornered or many cornered fight.

It is political madness to attempt it.

But Townleyism can be beaten, and beaten in June, if a united front is presented.—Forum.

JESSIE NEWS.

• Louis Trostad was a Jessie caller Friday.

A. B. Detwiller was a Jessie visitor Wednesday.

Miss Tena Regner visited our schools Monday.

O. M. Rogney was a Jessie business visitor Monday.

Elmer Myer took the train to Cooperstown Saturday.

N. O. Haugen transacted business in Jessie Wednesday.

Emil Retslaff transacted business in Cooperstown Friday.

G. Borchert and wife visited with friends in Jessie last Friday.

Robt. Thorn went on a business trip to McHenry last Saturday.

Fred Toenberg visited with friends in Walum a few days last week.

The Reid children of Binford, are visiting at the Gus Sues home.

O. O. Anderson took his wife to the hospital at Fargo this week.

Miss Ellen Pfeifer is visiting at the home of Ed Zimprich this week.

Wallace McCulloch returned from a visit with Floyd Pratt Saturday.

Miss Dorothy Baker and Miss Agnes Anderson spent Sunday in Cooperstown.

E. W. Everson, of Walum, was a visitor in Jessie, the first of the week.

H. B. Hanson is installing an electric light plant at the home of Ed Thorn.

Miss Ovedia Anderson returned to her home Saturday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Olaf Lybeck and baby left for heir home near New Rockford Wednesday.

Chas. Becherl purchased two two-year-old Holstein heifers from Ed Thorn last week.

Dr. Babcock, state veterinarian, was here last week and tested M. E. Wilkinson's Holstein herd.

Mike Ally returned to Jessie last week and will work for his old employer, T. Tweed, this season.

Tice Chandler was in town Tuesday and states he has quit working on the Norman McCulloch farm.

Jake Pella, another Holstein purchaser, bought five head of purebred cattle from Ed Thorn last week.

Henry Dengel, of Little Falls, Minnesota, arrived last week and will work for Jake Pella this spring.

Elmer and Fred Arndt returned home Saturday from Fargo, where they have been attending school.

Frank and Stanley Zurawski arrived Saturday from Minnesota. They are now employed by Ed J. Fiebeger, near Aneta.

Adolph Skarin was in our village last week renewing old friendships. Mr. Skarin states he anticipates buying a farm near Jessie.

R. E. Klemisch returned to his home at Langdon, Tuesday. He has been visiting for some time at the home of Ed J. Fiebeger.

The Tweed boys drove their car into Jessie Saturday and went to Cooperstown and back in good time, in spite of the adverse road conditions.

Etho Husel had a touch of bad luck last week. As he was driving to town one of his best horses slipped and broke his leg. The animal was shot later.

Fred Sinclair, of Leavenworth, Wash., was here last week and purchased two Holsteins from Ed Thorn. He stated he expects to ship a carload of cattle to Leavenworth.

Fargo's Rabbit Game to be Probed

The Fargo and Moorhead "rabbit game" as it has become known, will be investigated by the Minnesota "blue sky" commission, W. E. G. Watson, of the Minnesota commission, being assigned to the task.

Of the venture, The Minneapolis Journal says:

"Boy, page Andy Gump! Here's a new business venture, the prospectus of which listens better than Rocky Mountain canaries or carp caviar.

"The latest offering, a fur company, hails from Fargo, N.D. The company has issued the prospectus. Much space in it is devoted to explaining the plans and hopes of another concern, a service corporation, the office address of which is given as on Wall street, New York.

"The prospectus of the fur company, and the outline of the operating plans of the service corporation reached Minnesota yesterday.

"Unlimited wealth, maturing quickly, is the spectacle depicted for every individual who invests $10 in the fur company. Summarized, this organization plans a rabbit raising farm on which the original $10.00