

Ludvig Amundson was the recipient of a substantial Christmas gift from the Monarch Elevator company, in the form of an insurance policy to the amount of $1625, with the Aetna Life Insurance Co. The amount of insurance each agent receives is figured according to the time each has been in the employ of the Monarch people.