

the undertaking.

Photographer Newgard has been moving this week and is now well settled in his new quarters. That the Binford public appreciate this most excellent improvement to its business street is proven by the large number of people who have visited the new studio, and commendatory expressions have been the verdict of all. Mr. Newgard has no superior in his profession and we doubt if there is a finer studio in the entire northwest. That he will be rewarded in increased patronage goes without saying.

---