

The Community programs in Binford Monday and Tuesday, were more largely attended than any of the previous ones and many have expressed the opinion that it was the best one. The Southern Belles, a trio of young Southern ladies, proved very pleasing entertainers in their musical numbers. Their repertoire consisted of a varied class of music that everyone could understand and appreciate and they were very liberal with it. Mr. Wilson gave a very interesting and instructive talk on community building and pointed out specific instances what organization had done in some communities, of which he personally knew about. He emphasized the necessity of that here and illustrated the benefits that would be derived through a live community organization. Mr. Wilson and the ladies were taken on an auto tour to Red Willow lake and their expressions after seeing this beautiful spot were of delight and surprise—surprised that we, who live here, have not made more of it. The Times will have more to say about this later.
