

Manager Hanson put on W. D. Griffith's famous picture, "The Birth of a Nation," yesterday afternoon and evening. This is without doubt one of the greatest pictures ever produced and deals with the period in American history during the civil war and reconstruction period. Mr. Hanson has been putting on some very good shows and certainly this is no exception. While the picture has been out for a considerable time the film shown here was remarkably clear and in an excellent state of preservation.
