

Christmas Boxes Reach Destination.

A card addressed to the First National Bank of Binford, from Camp Funston, Kansas, acknowledges receipt of the Christmas boxes sent some time ago from Binford to be distributed among the boys in camp at that place. The card reads:

Gentlemen:-A considerable number of Red Cross packages from Binford, N. D., were distributed among the "boys" of the 340th Field Artillery, heré, which contains about 75 per cent Arizonians. In behalf of the "boys" I wish to state that you will be repaid a thousandfold. Not in the time spent in training here, but when we get "over there." So much so that Binford, like the whole of Arizona, will be proud of us.

Respectfully,

Clarence Holt, Librarian.
