

fact, the farmers claim old line elevators with comparatively little grain to ship, receive an equal number of cars. The result has been, say the farmers, the closing of their houses while awaiting of cars, with an incidental loss of business and the discommoding of their customers.

The state railway commission is referring all these complaints thru the usual channels, but it is recommending that the old plan of distributing cars according to grain available for shipment be reinstated to overcome this abuse.

---