

Agent West of the N. P. has received new regulations regarding the collection of freight money, and henceforth all consignees of freight will have to go to the depot to make settlement. This is a government regulation and affects only freight shipments, but Mr. West stated to The Times yesterday that he will not make his usual rounds of the business houses to collect money on express shipments in the future.