

The Freshmen class rendered itself forever famous in the annals of Binford High School on the occasion of its first High School party, Friday evening, March fourteenth. The affair was held at the Odd Fellow's hall, which was appropriately decorated in Kelley green, the Freshmen class color. The class motto, "Crescat scientia" occupied a conspicuous place in the decorations. During the evening, the Freshmen sang their class song, "The Wearin' o' the Green" and the whole high school sang several school songs and gave their yells. Games and dancing furnished the entertainment, and the serving of supper shortly before twelve, concluded the evening's fun. The success of this first high school party certainly warrants its becoming a precedent in future years. Long life to what 1922 has started!

John Carrie, of the Nonpartisan