

Manager H. A. Brown is here with a crew of men and extensive improvements are being made on the telephone company's property. The office building has been purchased and the interior is being rearranged. The partition between the two front rooms has been removed and this room will be used by the operators at the switch board and a customer's lobby. A bed room and store room are in the rear. A new switch board will be installed. The main lead from the central office will be cabled. This will mean that practically all the wires on the Main street poles will be enclosed in place of open wires, which have caused more or less trouble by becoming crossed. Mr. Brown expects to have the improvements completed by the middle of July. Binford will then have a first-class telephone system and we are sure the people in town and country will show their appreciation by increased patronage.
