

Several weeks ago C. E. Burgess got tangled up in an auto accident and was thrown against a barbed wire fence and got his hand badly cut. Since that time he has had a tough time with that hand. He got a cold in it and then blood poisoning or something of that sort set in and he has had a painful time of it. The whole matter came to a head yesterday when Dr. Pray removed one finger from Charley's hand and from now on it is hoped that he will soon be in shape again to attend to his work. The loss of a finger is bad enough but it might have been worse—so here's hoping Charley's troubles are over.—Valley City Times-Record.
