

reduced to a minimum.

The store is so arranged that the goods handled may be reached with the least effort, and speed in the output of orders has been provided for.

The front portion of the store is equipped with a cashier's cage in addition to containing the counter and sample case, and the man who takes the order will also collect for same.

Shareholders in the store have been looking forward eagerly to the opening date and a thriving patronage is anticipated.

---