

J. G. Mills and Lewis Berg were un-animously reelected, and they reor-ganized with J. G. Mills, president; H. S. Halvorson, vice president; J. A. H. Winsloe, secretary; Ben Kill-eran, assistant secretary; H. P. Hammer, treasurer.

July 8 was designated as Soldiers' Day, and on this day all soldiers and sailors will be admitted free.

July 10 was designated as Rural School Day, and a prize will be offer-ed for the best appearing school in the parade, which will be a feature on that day. Entries will close for the parade on June 15.

The gate admission this year will be 75c per day. Races will again be a feature, and $800 in prizes will be offered for horses races. Ten per cent will be required to enter, all en-try money deducted from money winners.

President Mills appointed the fol-lowing as superintendents in the sev-eral departments:

Grounds—F. A. Sinclair.

Horses—Frank Paulson.

Cattle—J. G. Mills.

Dairy—Lewis Berg.

Hogs—G. A. Pratt and Fred Det-willer.

Sheep—F. J. Pfeifer.

Poultry—Theo. G. Thompson.

Industrial—Chas Houghton.

Ladies' Dept.—Mrs. Jas Hazard.

Amusements—T. G. Thompson, J. A. H. Winsloe, Ben Killeran, A. M. Detwiller and Chas. Houghton.

Asst. Secretary Killeran was se-lected as delegate to attend the meet-ing of the North Dakota Association of County Fairs at Grand Forks, March 6-7.

The decision to build a cattle barn and stock judging pavilion was arriv-ed at after some discussion and the money required will be raised by popular subscription, each director to act as a solicitor. This cattle barn and pavilion are much needed and the estimated cost is $2000. The stock pavilion will be circular in form and equipped with seats, be-neath which will be stall room and in the center will be a sale ring. The officers and directors of the associa-tion expect no difficulty in raising the funds for these buildings.