

Binford was bubbling over with a patriotic spirit last Saturday. With the school children vying with each other in the sale of Red Cross tags and others selling war savings and thrift stamps, a nice sum of money was realized—and Binford did another bit in taking the germ out of Germany. The sale of tags netted the Junior Red Cross $63.60, and $242 was invested in the stamps. The young ladies will be stationed at the various places again next Saturday with war savings and thrift stamps, and it is hoped that an equally good showing will be made. Chairman Sweger informs The Times that Griggs county is tied for first place with Bowman county.
