

J. W. Lieninger returned last week from Dickinson, where he went to purchase horses to replace the ones he lost when his barn burned down. He shipped back twenty head.