

McHenry Tribune: Postmaster Cannon received his new steel fixtures Monday evening, after waiting nearly two months for the shipment to arrive. The fixtures were hauled into the Shotwell building which Mr. Cannon bought some time ago, and the fixtures installed Tuesday, and the new postoffice opened for business yesterday. After everything is arranged, McHenry will have one of the best equipped postoffices in the state. The fixtures are entirely of steel, varnished in appropriate color and would do credit to a town much larger than this.
