Likely an Aeroplane.

McVille Journal: Did you see it? A share of the populace of this berg were under some excitement Tuesday evening about 7:30 when a bright light was soaring over McVille bound to southwest toward Binford or McHenry. It was at quite a height but some of the people saw the outline of air bird and heard the roar of the engines, the noise was not of a loud nature for it disturbed no one. It was probably someone making an air trip which is not an uncommon occurrence at this time in this country say nothing about Europe. McVille people have reported seeing iike flights during the past year.
