

Red Cross Wants Men.

Owing to the increasing activities of the American forces in France there is a special call for field representatives for work with the American Red Cross, according to Harry Curran Wilbur, state executive secretary.

"The Northern division must furnish at least 29 men during the coming three or four months and some can be used immediately." Mr. Wilbur said: "Applications for these positions should be put in promptly as it takes some little time to make the