Mrs C. E. Peterson, who went to Plentywood, Montana, last week, being called by the illness of her sister, has written that a serious epidemic of Spanish influenza has struck that section of Montana. At the time of writing the letter there were about 75 cases at Plentywood, and 300 at Scobey, a short distance west of there. Three deaths occurred at Scobey on Thursday. Her sister's condition is serious though with proper care and attention, it is believed she will pull thru.
