

Sentinel-Courier: Ed and Orion Rhodes motored in from Sutton, Sunday. Yes, we said motored. They had attached the business end of a Ford to a set of bobs, with the hind wheels outside the rear runners. These wheels were supplied with cleats which caught well into the snow on the road, the steering gear was attached to the front bobs, and the boys sailed along from 15 to 20 miles an hour with ease. In the afternoon they exhibited their winter Ford on the streets in Coopers-town and it created much interest and comment. The Rhodes boys are usually first when it comes to anything new in the line of amateur inventions and they surely demonstrated their ingenuity in developing the "snow car."
