

The section crew came near having another accident again this week and Section Forman Standal is in a quandary as to who it is that is intended for the victim and why. This time a piece of three-inch tiling had been driven between the rail and planks of a crossing leaving it high enough to have thrown the hand car off the track, had it not been discovered in time to stop. It was a lucky thing that the "speeder" was not used on this trip, because with its speed it could not have been stopped so suddenly and consequently thrown off the track, with probable injuries resulting to the occupants.
