

opera house. Don't miss this.

The N. P. section crew met with an accident Wednesday morning which might have proved very serious. They were riding on the speeder on their way to work in the eastern end of the section, when a little over a mile from town the speeder was suddenly thrown off the track. Upon investigation it was found that some boys had placed a broken jug upon one rail and the end of a tie on the other. The men being busy about the speeder and facing the sun failed to see the obstacles on the track. Two of the crew escaped injury, but Sam Storkson hurt his leg, while Sam Standal was thrown out in such a way that his chest was bruised quite badly. Some damage was done to the car.
