Sutton Reporter: Sutton came near being visited by a disastrous fire Sunday afternoon. Some parties who had been at the Sutton Grain Co. elevator threw down a lighted cigar or cigarette, and sparks from it flew into some rubbish which the strong wind soon fanned into a blaze. It had gotten a good start when John Urban's came by on their way from church. They gave the alarm, extinguishers were taken over and the fire was readily put out. Had it not been discovered until a little later, the chances are the loss would have been enormous, as a high wind was blowing from the south directly toward the hotel and lumber yard and other buildings.
