

on their return trip Saturday.

The news of the death of A. M. Hemerlin last Thursday evening at his home in Cooperstown, came as a shock to residents in this community where Mr. Hemerlin had resided for so many years and was so well known. Mr. Hemerlin had been confined to his home for a short time with a severe cold, and it was feared that pneumonia would result. However, he fought this off, and apparently was well on the road to recovery when he retired for the night. During the evening his daughter, Miss Inez, prepared a glass of lemonade for him, and at that time he was in his usual spirit. A short time later she went to his bedside and found him breathing his last. Funeral services were held Sunday, at the Masonic Temple in Cooperstown, and burial was made in the Binford cemetery Monday. The Times will print an obituary next week.
