

TOLNA MAN FOUND DEAD

Pekin Budget: C. E. Lind of Tolna was found dead Monday morning at the edge of a small lake near his farm northwest of Warwick. Mr. Lind had been out on his farm for a time doing harvest work, and it is supposed that he went down to the lake in the evening to take a bath. He had undressed except the underwear, and had evidently been stricken with heart failure just as he stepped into the water, as he was found face down in eight inches of water just at the edge of the lake.

The deceased was a buyer for the St Anthony Elevator Co., at Tolna, and was prominent in the business life of that city. We have no particulars on Mr. Lind's life.
