

The Binford second team won an interesting game from McVille last Thursday. Score 10-8. Olstad pitched the first seven innings for Binford but retired after being hit in the arm by a pitched ball. H. Hanson finished the game. McVille also used two pitchers. Binford won the game in the first half of the ninth. With two men on, H. Hanson hit for two bases bringing in two runs. McVille was unable to score in their half. The Times scribe umpired the game and up until the ninth, was a regular fellow in the eyes of McVille fans. Our ruling on a low fly along the right field line, which we declared fair, went against them, and instanter we became the worst robber in the country. The lot of the umpire is surely a tough one—if you take it seriously.
