

J. G. Aitkinson, auditor of the Great Western Grain Co., was here this week and closed the elevator for the time being. Mr. Evers put in his resignation some time ago, and rather than look for a successor at this time, the company will keep the house closed at least until another crop is harvested.