

That North Dakota boys at the Citizens Military Training camp at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, are having a good time as well as receiving some splendid training is evident from letters received by parents of Binford boys there. The schedule is as follows: Everyone in camp is up at 5:45 a. m. and falls in for mess at 6:10 a. m. After mess they return to their barracks, make up their cots for inspection and police the grounds. After inspection, the boys fall in for drill. They drill for three hours with rifles and after this they are free until dinner. A light lunch is served at 10:30 a. m. After dinner they return to the barracks again and make up their cots for sleeping. Most of the afternoon is free with the athletic period from 2:15 to 4:15, which includes boxing, wrestling, baseball and track. The boys from North Dakota have led the camp several times in all of these sports. Sometimes the schedule is changed as swimming comes on the program four days a week. At 6 p. m. supper is served and after supper there is the movies to go to, a canteen in which the boys may purchase candy, ice cream, etc., and the boys are allowed to go into town three times a week, Wednesday afternoons, Saturday afternoons, and Saturday evenings, and Sunday from 11 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. Speeches by local men are also given as part of the schedule during the week. Every day classes in military courtesy and other army regulations are held and parades are held frequently on the parade ground. The North Dakota boys are all in frame barracks which are located about a mile from the fort proper. They sleep in spring cots which the boys say are very comfortable. The barracks are so arranged that all the representatives from each state are bunked together.
