

day evening.

No Hallowe'en pranks were pulled off in our village on Wednesday evening, for the reason that extra police were on duty to protect peoples property. The next night, however, a few roughnecks were out and did as much damage as they dared. The miscreants were found out and the following night were compelled by the marshal to restore everything to its proper place.

Hard coal at the Dome Elevator