

Peg o' My Heart to be Shown Here

The play, "Peg o' My Heart", a three-act comedy, will be presented in the Binferd opera house, Friday evening, April 27, by the senior students of the Hannaford High School.

This play was well received in Hannaford, and we trust a good full house will greet the young actors here. The Hannaford Enterprise has the following to say about the show:

Friday evening the Senior High School class put on their play, "Peg o' My Heart," at Jackson's hall. That the people expected to see a good play was evident by the tremendous crowd that came out to see the performance, the hall being entirely filled and many were compelled to stand along the wall and in the hall. And they were not disappointed. The staging of the play including the costumes of the players, as well as the lighting and fixtures and all the innumerable details of a three-act play, had been skillfully arranged and supervised that the entire performance went through from beginning to end without a hitch. The nine people who composed the cast, had perfected themselves so thoroughly in their parts and memorized their lines so well, that at no time was there any interruption of the smooth flow of the action of the play.

Dorothy Angus in the title role, Robert Jones as "Jerry," and Leonard Haugen as Alaric, had the heaviest parts to carry, but they all acquitted themselves with great credit. Oma Isackson as Mrs. Chichester, Elsie Jenson as her daughter, Ethel, Philip Schmidt as the villain Brent, and Ronald Schneider as the lawyer, were each admirable in their impersonation of the various characters they portrayed. Anna Kaaestad and Orlo Johnson, as maid and footman, respectively, by their skillful acting contributed the indispensable comedy touch.
