

VILLAGE BOARD WILL HAVE TWO NEW MEMBERS

There's always a calm before a storm and in the case of our annual village election there apparently was no great interest manifest until the last few hours preceding election day. Then numerous citizens awoke from their apathy, and proceeded to bring forth candidates for the various offices until there were at least three tickets in the field, but finally dwindling down to two when the balloting began.

This difference of opinion furnished a little excitement for the time being, but now the town has resumed its usual tranquillity with no sore spots created.
