

Rural Carrier Heinsen this week commenced the delivery of mail on route number two, having been granted a transfer from route one. Mr. Heinsen made application for a transfer when vacancy occurred during the year, and being the oldest in point of service, his request was recognized by the department. Although route number two is a few miles shorter than route one and consequently pays less salary, the difference in roads more than offsets any loss, financially. The new carrier, when appointed, will serve the patrons on route one.
