

Great Western Elevator Sold

An important business transfer was made public this week wherein Ludvig Amundson and J. A. Knapp became the owners of the Great Western Grain Co., elevator in Binford. Possession was given July 1.

The elevator was formerly managed by Aug. Evers, but has been closed during the summer. It is a comparatively new structure and is equipped with modern facilities.

Mr. Amundson will act in the capacity of manager and buyer. He has been employed by the Monarch Elevator Co., for a number of years and has been very successful in building up a good patronage for his company. No doubt, these patrons will continue their business relations with him in the new concern.
