

smith in every branch of the trade.

O. A. Lee, of Leavenworth, Washington, formerly one of the publishers of the Sentinel-Courier, at Cooperstown, was a brief visitor in Binford, Monday. Mr. Lee had been called to his former home at Atwater, Minnesota, by the illness of a brother. On his return he visited with a sister at Tolna, and was enroute to Cooperstown when he spent a few hours here. Mr. Lee is associated with H. S. Rearick and W. G. Schannach, other former Griggs county newspaper men, located at Leavenworth. They are enjoying a splendid patronage in the printing business, and are otherwise pleased with the western country, and this is true of other Griggs county people who reside in the same city. Needless to say, Mr. Lee's visit among his old haunts was thoroughly enjoyed by himself and numerous friends who were pleased to see him.