

ed any injury of any account.

A. D. Shaw and J. L. Moore autoed to Hoople last week to look over the potato situation. They returned Saturday evening. According to statements by them the farmers in the Hoople community have made a great "killing" with potatoes this season. Thirty buyers were there making bids for the potatoes, and they were informed that Hoople is considered one of the best potato markets of the world, considering the quality.