

The Old Settlers' Picnic drew a large crowd to Red Willow lake on Sunday, and even the heavy down-pour of rain that fell in the afternoon failed to prevent the carrying out of the fine program of songs and readings. The Cooperstown band also entertained with their excellent musical numbers. An interesting part of the program was the horse swimming race that was pulled off. Three horses, with riders, competed and swam across the lake between the west shore to the Evers' cottage, a distance of about one half mile, in four and a half minutes. Adolph Tufteland's horse with John Davidson riding, won the race.
