

The American Legion Post and Auxiliary are making preparations to celebrate Armistice Day, Saturday, November 11th. The committees have planned to give a fitting program in the hall, free to everybody, then sell a coffee and cake lunch, after which the library and reading room will be formally opened to the public. The ladies of the Auxiliary have worked hard to gather a collection of good books for this library and have decided that on Armistice Day would be an appropriate time to celebrate the opening. Those who have promised to donate books are kindly asked to bring them in for cataloging before that day. The program and other details will be published in The Times next week.

A large consignment of game and fish for Red Willow lake has been received through the efforts of our congressman Young and H. T. Judd state game commissioner. On Friday, H. A. Brown of Cooperstown met Commissioner Judd at Surtree, who was in charge of a special fish car on the Great Northern, and secured 23 cans of fish, including sunfish, croppies and buffalo fish. On Monday, F. G. Lewis received by express 20 ring-necked pheasants which have been released at the lake grounds.

LADIES—We have a nice line of samples of new materials for Coats and Suits in the Royal Tailor line. See P. A. Overby, for prices.

The best Malt, right off the ship ped ice. Try one—at Anderson's Pharmacy.

Have you had a dish of our ice cream? If not, why not?—Anderson's Pharmacy.