

...solicited school.

Thieves found their way into the basement of the Steve Rorvig home last Thursday night and got away with several quarts of sauce, some lard, and a quantity of home-made wine. We can understand what a fellow could do with the sauce and lard, but what is he going to do with the wine?

A very large crowd attended the