

Martin Johnson, an unmarried man of Romness township died very suddenly last Thursday morning. We have been unable to learn the full details but are informed that he went out into the pasture after the cows that morning and did not return. The neighbors, who observed his long absence organized a searching party, and the body of the unfortunate man was found. There being no suspicious circumstances surrounding the affair, a coroner's inquest was deemed unnecessary, as everything went to show that Mr. Johnson had died a natural death. Cause of death is unknown at the time of this writing.
