

port.

M. A. Hagle lost his endgate some time ago. He advertised for it and requested the party finding it to leave it at the store of Greenland, Pritz & Co. The outcome of the affair was that Mr. Hagle found the end gate himself-and neglected to leave it at the store designated. Now how can people expect to have their instructions followed if they do not do as requested, This is one on Mr. Hagle.