

Messrs. B. A. Hermanson and Joseph Schindele drove to Mr. Schindele's home near Stump Lake, Saturday, and the latter returned Sunday, while Mr. Hermanson remained to engage in the search for the body of Martin Knapp, who was drowned in that lake last October. The body was expected to raise as soon as the ice broke up in the spring, and parties have been on the lookout for it during the past few days but to no avail up to the present time.

---