

Then learning is most excellent.

Messrs F. G. Lewis and Geo. Lockett have begun the erection of a dog kennel, which will consist in all of a kennel proper and a high wire fence surrounding it, so that the canines may have a play ground. They will make a specialty of raising blooded purps and mongels such as Lockett always keeps around him, and some attention will be given to the rearing of large families of good sporting dogs such as bird dogs, wolf hounds, grey hounds etc. This is a good enterprise and the boys are to be congratulated for having conceived the idea. "Have you ever heard of Jehosiphat Boggs, breeder and raiser of all sorts of dogs?" etc., well, just keep your eye on Fred and George.
