

In our last issue we made a slight mistake in announcing that the parents of Mrs Hogie were here to attend her funeral. It was generally understood that they were to be here but for some reason they did not come. We wish our readers to blame the editor alone for this mistake and hope we will not do it again.