

Mrs. McDonald Passes Away.

Mrs. D. B. McDonald of Cooperstown Died at the hospital at Valley City, on Thursday June 20th, of a complicated case of heart trouble and dropsy. Deceased had suffered for some time previous to her death from inflammatory rheumatism and was troubled to considerable extent until recently when she went to the hospital for treatment. At the time of her death deceased was aged about 31 years, and is survived by her husband and three little daughters ranging in age from 10 to 14 years. In addition to these she leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rickford north of Binford, and several brothers and sisters. She has been taken away just at the time when she was badly needed by the members of her happy home, but her Maker has taken her to his fold to enjoy the glory of eternal sunshine and to relieve her of her earthly sufferings. In this fact let us all be comforted for our loss is her gain, and while we mourn for her she is numbered among the angels of Heaven where no sorrow can come and no cares are known. The entire community is saddened by the death of this noble woman, and the sympathy of all is extended to the sorrowing family in this time of sorrow. The funeral was conducted by the Masonic lodge of Cooperstown, there being several members of the lodge residing at this place from whom the pall bearers were selected, who met the train and accompanied the remains to Cottonwood cemetery north east of town where they were laid at rest. Rev. Kishpaugh of Cooperstown conducted the funeral service and the procession from here was one of the largest ever seen here.
