

The post-office is to be moved again within the next two or three weeks. This time it is to be moved into the building formerly occupied by Schindele's harness shop, later by R. J. Ferguson. Our readers all know where the building is so there need be no confusion on the part of old timers in locating the post-office.