

turn last Thursday, by his wife.

Poles have been erected on Main street for the new street lamps purchased by the city council. Wires have been stretched from the poles on both sides of the street, to which the lamps will be attached, overhanging the center of the street. With the three lights, Main street will be pretty well illuminated, as they seem to have given entire satisfaction.