

Carl Helland returned last week from Norway having spent the past three or four months there among relatives and boyhood friends. He had a very delightful time.