The services held at the hall last Sunday evening were very successful in view of both attendance and interest. Mr. Hoffman preached a very good sermon and was listened to very attentively by every person in the congregation. While he is a young man his ideas are very good and he made a deep impression upon all present. Many very valuable points were given the people for consideration and everybody was well pleased with the entire service. Mr. Hoffman is also a very good singer—which adds greatly to the enjoyment of the services, and, as he expects to come here regularly every two weeks from now on, it is hoped that the lively interest manifested in the first meeting will be maintained throughout so that each meeting will be well attended and that the people may derive great benefit from it.
