

Hans Koloen and Ludvig Amundson departed for Canada yesterday in search of gold bricks which we hope they will find in such large numbers that they will have to call on their friends to help bring them home